- a requirement for students to study an increased number of specified readings;
- a reduction in the number of curriculum organizers;
- inclusion of assessment and evaluation samples;
- a revised list of key literary terms required for study in English Literature 12;
- tighter linking of suggested instructional and assessment strategies;
- integration of information technology

Full implementation of the English Literature 12 (2003) IRP is September 2003. The first provincial examinations based on this document will be in January 2004 and June 2004. Revised examination specifications will be available on the Ministry web site by June 2003.
