

SUMMARY: FILE REVIEW

Of the Death of a Youth in the Care of the Director in 2019

Circumstances of the Fatality

The review examined the ministry services provided to an Indigenous youth who died. The youth was receiving guardianship services at the time of their death.

Findings

A collaborative plan was developed, implemented, and monitored to support the youth's transition to adulthood, particularly in relation to their health, permanency, and culture. The youth had a large care team who met regularly, and support services were provided to meet the youth's specific needs. Collective planning and decision making occurred with the youth's guardianship team, other ministry program areas, community professionals, family, and community, which supported their health and well-being.

Actions

No actions were required to address the findings of the review.

The review was completed in May 2021.
