ISSUED: September 2009 REVISED: February 2023

The carbon tax rate changes announced in Budget 2020, which were deferred to provide relief to people and businesses as part of our COVID-19 support measures, will take effect on April 1, 2021.

The carbon tax rates effective April 1, 2021 and April 1, 2022 are aligned with the federal carbon pricing backstop methodology, where applicable. This means these carbon tax rates are revised from the rates that were previously set in 2017.

Also, effective April 1, 2021, the rates for shredded and whole tires are replaced with a new category for combustible waste. Combustible waste includes tires in any form and asphalt shingles as a new taxable combustible.
