Property Owner – If you are a property owner who qualifies for the home owner grant, and you have a disability that is likely to continue for at least 2 years, or you are the spouse or relative of a person with disabilities who lives in your principal residence, you may be eligible for an additional home owner grant. To see if you are eligible, visit our website at gov.bc.ca/homeownergrant

Complete this form only the first year that you apply. Complete Part A and B first, then have the health professional for the person with disabilities initial Part B and complete Part C.

Health Professional – The health professional for the person with disabilities identified in Part A must initial Part B, complete Part C and return the form to the person with disabilities.

A health professional is:

- · a medical practitioner,
- a nurse practitioner,
- a registered psychologist who is authorized by the College of Psychologists of BC to practise psychology, or
- an occupational therapist authorized by the College of Occupational Therapists of BC to practise occupational therapy.

A person with disabilities is someone who, in the opinion of a health professional, requires help within their principal residence or a qualifying modification to their principal residence or land, because of a severe mental or physical impairment that directly and significantly restricts their ability to perform one or more daily living activities either continually or periodically for extended periods, and which is likely to continue for at least two years.

A relative is a child, grandchild, brother, sister, parent, stepparent or grandparent of the person with disabilities, or a person who stands in place of a parent to the person with disabilities.

Qualifying modifications are changes to the principal residence or land that are necessary for the person with disabilities to gain access to, be mobile or functional in, or reduce the risk of harm in the principal residence or on the land. Any modification to land must be part of the construction, renovation, or alteration of the principal residence.

A qualifying daily living activity includes these activities in their principal residence: preparing meals, managing finances, performing housework, moving about inside, performing personal hygiene and self care, managing medication, making decisions about activities, care or finances, and relating to, communicating or interacting with others effectively.
