

	Ministry of Energy Mines and Low Carbon Innovation Issued: August 2015 Revised: March 2024	Low Carbon Fuels Act Transfer of Compliance Units Information Bulletin RLCF-013
---	---	--

Background

Beginning in 2024, to participate in the credit market, an organization must be registered by the director in accordance with the Low Carbon Fuels (General) Regulation (LCFGR) under section 17. Fuel suppliers who actively participated in the credit market in 2023 will automatically be registered by the director in accordance with the LCFGR for the 2024 compliance period. The director holds discretionary authority to refuse, suspend, or cancel an organization's registration.

Compliance with the low carbon fuel requirements of the Low Carbon Fuels Act (Act), is calculated in terms of positive compliance units (credits) for marketing low carbon fuels and negative compliance units (debits) for marketing high carbon fuels as specified by section 13 of the Act. A registered organization may transfer issued credits in order to achieve compliance with the low carbon fuel requirements.

The Low Carbon Fuel Standard has historically referred to compliance units as credits and debits. Beginning in 2024, the terminology is updated to compliance units (positive or negative).

Compliance units issued by the director

Before credits can be transferred, they must be issued by the director. Compliance units are issued based on the submission of an annual compliance report or the completion of a milestone under an initiative agreement. Compliance units that are issued by the director in relation to a milestone under an initiative agreement are valid when they are awarded.

Fair market value

All transfers must include a "fair market value" of the consideration in Canadian dollars per credit, under section 18 of the LCFGR. Transfers that the director considers are underestimating "fair market value" or those using a "zero dollar" value must include a written explanation justifying the use of the identified value.

The "fair market value" is generally accepted as the dollar figure a credit would sell for on the open and unrestricted market, between a willing buyer and a willing seller who are both knowledgeable, informed, and prudent, and who are acting independently of each other.

Approval of transfers

All transfers must be approved by the director. A registered organization may submit a transfer for review through the Transportation Fuels Reporting System. The transfer will take effect on the date on which the transfer is approved by the director.

Application of credits

Only those credits held on the reporting deadline can be applied to a compliance obligation for that compliance period.
