

Consider stand age when making assumptions about responses to various treatments (the older the stand the lower the likely response). Older stands highly likely to require fertilization.

Very high density Lw leading stands may go into repression.