Map 14: High Value Cultural Sites and Trails

Tlingit Cultural Trails

Tlingit Cultural Sites - Category

Category A
Clearly defined, site specific areas of high cultural significance to the Tlingit, and include village sites, archaeological sites, grave sites, spiritual areas, and intensive traditional use areas. These sites are highly sensitive to disturbance and are irreplaceable.

Category B
Sites whose values have lower sensitivities to disturbance from other resource uses, or are dispersed through a broader area with high spiritual, cultural or traditional land use significance. These areas may include a mix of specific cultural features (camps, cabins, trails, etc.), archaeological sites, spiritual areas, traditional use areas, and/or traditional gathering areas.

Category C
Cultural sites or areas within protected areas, which benefit from management direction for those zones. Additional management objectives may be developed through protected area management planning or site specific planning in order to maintain the integrity of individual sites or values.
