LEGAL DEFINITION
Addenda	all additional information regarding this RfX including Amendments to the RfX.
Amendments	a change to the RfX that results in posting an updated version of the RfX requiring Suppliers to submit a new Submission to the amended RfX.
TECHNICAL DIFFERENCES
Addenda	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Does not force a supplier to submit a new submission.</li> <li>• Recommended for all changes to a posted RfX that are not material changes.</li> <li>• Addenda are issued using the Discussion Forum, either publicly using “Public Portal” as a recipient or, if using a qualified list, all those invited suppliers would be selected as recipients.</li> <li>• Typically used to clarify answers that do not require any physical changes to the published material within the RfX.</li> <li>• Document attachments can be included with these Addenda – these will display on the Public Portal if sent to that recipient. For an invite-only opportunity, suppliers will only have access to the attachments after they log in to BC Bid. For non-registered suppliers you will need to send attachments through government email.</li> </ul>

Amendments*	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Will require a supplier to submit a new submission. The application will permanently seal the bid from access for sealed RFX processes. Access to the submission will be available if its an unsealed RFX process.</li> <li>• Sends opportunity update notification to all internal interested suppliers with instructions on how to submit a new submission.</li> <li>• Used for material changes in the posted RFX (e.g., scope change or new evaluation submission requirement).</li> <li>• These are issued when you are changing values within fields in the application that are not editable while an opportunity is open, or you are adding/removing. For the more complex templates like the ITQ this would include changes to the response forms and quote forms that are built into BC Bid.</li> </ul>
* The choice of whether to issue an addendum through the discussion forum or an amendment is up to the discretion of the issuing organization/Ministry
Exceptions include fields within the Sourcing Project tab, Official Contact and the Closing/Termination Date and Time that can be changed at anytime. Further explained below.
ADDENDA VS AMENDMENTS DETAILS: TAB BY TAB

SET UP PROJECT

While the opportunity is open, most of the fields within sourcing project can be edited (Fig 1). This is because multiple RFX can be run under a project

EDITABLE FIELDS

Opportunity Description	this is at the project level, and will not update the RFX opportunity description
Issued By/Issued For	Can change organizations at any point*
Main Commodity/Other Commodities	Can change commodities at any point*
* All changes to these fields happen in real-time, so they will update immediately within the issued RFX. No notifications will be sent when these values are changed. Addenda required based on Ministry practices.

SET UP TEAM: CHANGING THE OFFICIAL CONTACT

The only public-facing role within the sourcing team is the Official Contact. All other role changes are behind the scenes. There are two pieces to changing the Official Contact: the user assigned and the contact email that displays on the Opportunity Details/Additional RFx info tab.

Official Contact changes*	Addenda?	Amendment?
Switching role to another user and using a personal government email address	Optional (recommended)	Optional (Not recommended)
Switching role to another user, but not changing the alternate email address	Optional (recommended)	Optional (Not recommended)
Changing or adding an alternate email address (with or without changing the Official Contact)	Optional (not recommended)	Optional (recommended)

**Re-assigning the Official Contact happens in real-time, updating the records visible to suppliers/the public immediately (Fig 2). No notifications are automatically sent out unless an Addenda or Amendment is created.*

\*Alternate email address is a hardcoded field (Fig 3), so if only changed using Addenda, the change will not be clear to suppliers who will have to find the Addenda documents to be able to note the correct information, which will conflict with what they see on the screen.*

Addenda required based on Ministry practices.
