UBCM advocates for the common interests of local government in British Columbia and administers funding programs that address local government needs.

ENACTING LEGISLATION
Union of British Columbia Municipalities Act

MANDATE
UBCM works with other orders of government to represent the common interests of local governments.

HOW WE FULFILL OUR MANDATE
UBCM has represented the diverse interests of BC local governments since it was established in 1905.

Local governments are vested with powers and authority through provincial legislation. They are also subject to a range of federal and provincial regulatory regimes. UBCM works with other orders of government to develop, refine and improve the legislative and regulatory frameworks that relate to local government. Our aim is to ensure that local governments have the powers and resources necessary to meet local needs.

As a voluntary member-based organization, UBCM was created through the initiative of BC local governments. The founding concept was that local governments in BC needed a single voice for matters that affect all communities. In time, UBCM was empowered through a provincial statute to be the point of contact for the Province in its consultations with local government.

UBCM’s membership, which currently includes all local governments in BC and eight First Nations, gathers at an annual convention to debate and identify matters of common interest. Resolutions are sponsored by a community and vetted at regional area association meetings sanctioned by UBCM. The resolutions process, along with surveys, advisory groups, and research provide UBCM with the policy basis for its advocacy and consultation with other orders of government.

UBCM’s 21-member board is elected at the annual meeting. The composition of the Executive is designed to ensure representation from all regions and reflect the demographics of the province. The Executive meets quarterly throughout the year and seeks to implement member-supported policies through a robust, long-term approach to government relations and advocacy. Our aim is to work directly and constructively with other orders of government.

In addition to its work as the recognized advocate of local government, UBCM provides a range of services to its membership, including the administration of federal and provincial funding programs and a group benefits program. A secretariat of twenty-five, based in offices in Richmond and Victoria, support the ongoing work of UBCM.

PRODUCTS AND SERVICES

Education and Professional Development
LGMA education and professional development programs, workshops and online learning train local government professionals in the specific technical requirements of their jobs so that they can adapt and respond to new legislation or emerging technologies and practices that may affect citizens in their communities.

Accredited programs, such as our Municipal Administration Training Institute (MATI®), provide training and education on statutory officer requirements, community planning, human resources, approval of subdivisions, communication skills, leadership and management, and the fundamentals of local government administration.

Professional Networking
The LGMA provides opportunities for local government professionals across BC to come together to exchange best practices and to develop innovative solutions to today’s challenges and tomorrow’s opportunities.

Local Government Resource Materials
High-quality professional resource materials (e.g., toolkits, manuals, guides) are produced by the LGMA to meet the needs of local government professionals and assist them in solving challenges facing their communities. One example of this is the LGMA’s partnership with Elections BC, the ministry responsible for local government, and legal experts specializing in local government legislation to provide an elections manual, which ensures all BC local governments have technical and practical advice and best practice guidelines for conducting municipal elections.

Peer-to-Peer Learning
Through the LGMA, local government professionals receive access to training from leading experts from across BC and Canada. The LGMA’s workshops, webinars and programs are delivered by specialists actively working in local governments and the municipal field, and they are selected for their experience, knowledge and innovative practices.

HISTORY

A history of partnership:
From its founding, partnership has been the cornerstone of the LGMA’s success as a professional organization. It works closely with the 9 partners who contributed to this booklet, as well as provincial partners including Asset Management BC, Planning Institute of BC, Public Works Association of BC, Fire Chiefs’ Association of BC and BC Municipal Safety Association, plus a range of others, including partners across Canada.

1919
Founded in 1919 by resolution of the Union of BC Municipalities, the LGMA (then called the Municipal Officers’ Association of BC), was formed “for the purpose of interchange of ideas and the more efficient performance of [municipal officers’] duties.”

1969
During the LGMA’s 50th anniversary in 1969, the organization described its history as “a story of hard-working, dedicated committee members who met regularly to address many important issues of importance to the professional development of its members.”

1986
The LGMA launched its first Municipal Administration Training Institute (MATI®) program, titled Operation and Overview of Local Government. Since 1986, more than 3,000 local government professionals have taken a MATI course.

2011
Collaboration has been the driving force behind the LGMA’s organizational growth and achievements as a professional association. In fact, the LGMA has received international recognition through invitations from the United Nations and the Federation of Canadian Municipalities to present its model globally.

2019
The LGMA celebrates 100 years of serving local governments and their communities at its annual conference.
The Ministry of Municipal Affairs and Housing takes leadership in supporting local governments, not-for-profit organizations and residents to build vibrant and healthy communities that are well governed, liveable, safe, economically resilient, and socially and environmentally responsible; and provides British Columbians with access to more affordable, safe and functional housing through policy and programs, technical codes and standards, and services for landlords and tenants.

- Community Charter
- Islands Trust Act
- Local Elections Campaign Financing Act
- Local Government Act
- Local Government Grants Act
- Local Services Act
- Municipal Finance Authority Act
- Resort Associations Act

MANDATE
Ministry Responsible for Local Government
Within the provincial government, there is always a ministry responsible for the core local government system and its legislative framework. This ministry develops the legislative framework for local governments; oversees the financial health of the local government system and exercises targeted provincial oversight; provides information and advice to local governments, partner organizations, citizens and taxpayers on virtually any topic, from local elections to governance change to services; resolves issues of mutual interest to the Province and local governments; facilitates community and regional planning and fostering positive intergovernmental relations; and works to facilitate constructive and harmonious relationships between the provincial government and local governments, and between local governments and First Nations.

Local Government Division
Through the Local Government Division, the Ministry provides a range of services to local governments, including maintaining, changing and applying the policy and legislative framework; administering grants programs; and providing education, capacity building, targeted oversight and problem-solving support.

HOW WE FULFILL OUR MANDATE
Building and maintaining partnerships with other provincial ministries, the federal government, local governments, local government organizations such as the Union of BC Municipalities, First Nations and other stakeholders is key to fulfilling the Ministry’s mandate.

Many other provincial ministries also have direct relationships with local governments regarding their areas of responsibility, from waste management to transportation to indigenous relations. Consultations with local governments, local government organizations and citizens on undertakings that impact local governments, such as changes to legislation and programs, enhance these partnerships; in some cases, the Province is obligated to consult with local governments or with First Nations. As well, the Ministry collaborates through partner organizations such as the Board of Examiners and the Local Government Leadership Academy to build the capacity of local administrators and elected officials.

The story of the LGD’s past, told in five distinct eras:

1930-1948

Turbulent Times. Formally established in 1934, the LGD helped financially troubled municipalities survive the Depression and encouraged municipal savings during the Second World War.

1948-1965

Coping with Growth. The 1948 Goldenberg Commission initiated broad-ranging changes to the local government system in BC, including a new Municipal Act and the beginnings of regional government institutions.

1965-1995

Collaborative Institutions. In addition to the implementation of regional districts, this era saw the development of province-wide collaborative institutions such as the Municipal Finance Authority and the Municipal Insurance Association.

1995-2005

Fiscal Challenges and Municipal Empowerment. When municipalities sought more autonomy from the provincial government in the 1990s, the LGD helped to facilitate this transition, playing an important role in developing both the Local Government Act and the Community Charter.

2005-2017

Enhancing Accountability and Democracy. This period saw several refinements to the new framework of local accountability and empowerment. New legislation introduced the Office of the Auditor General for Local Government, whose role is to give advice and recommendations to local governments that help them to deliver their services more efficiently, effectively and economically. As well, substantial changes to local elections campaign financing rules have helped to promote a level playing field in local government elections.

Organizations Supporting Vibrant Communities in BC
The MFA helps build British Columbia’s communities by pooling their borrowing and investment needs and taking advantage of economies of scale to provide a range of low-cost and flexible financial services to all local governments equally, regardless of their size or location.

ENACTING LEGISLATION

Municipal Finance Authority Act

MANDATE

The mandate of the MFA is to provide financial solutions to BC’s local government organizations. Formed in 1970, the MFA united both the borrowing power and requirements of BC’s municipalities to provide a collective, long-term debt-issuance facility. All local governments in BC have opted in to the MFA system with the sole exception of the City of Vancouver, which nonetheless remains part of the Metro Vancouver joint and several borrowing guarantee.

The MFA now represents the collective long-term borrowing interests of BC’s regional districts, municipalities, regional hospital districts, water and sewer utilities, E-Comm (southwestern BC’s emergency services) and CREST (Capital Region Emergency Services Telecommunications).

The MFA is governed by 39 Members of the Authority, representing all regional districts in BC proportional to population. An elected Board of Trustees of 10 of these members oversees executive and administrative powers and duties.

HOW WE FULFILL OUR MANDATE

The mandate of the MFA has expanded to include long-term lending (infrastructure), short-term lending, equipment financing, pooled investment funds and a pooled high-interest savings account program. The MFA leverages its large-scale buying power to provide these added-value programs at competitive rates for very low fees. Our small professional team manages over $4 billion in long-term loans and almost $300 million in short-term and equipment loans, and has nearly $3 billion of investments under management.

The MFA offers:

- A dedicated team of local government finance specialists
- Programs designed specifically for BC local governments
- Low interest rates for both long- and short-term borrowing
- Low or no fees on investment portfolios not available elsewhere
- Online access to all statements and reports
- Impartial assistance with finance and investment issues

ENACTING LEGISLATION
Assessment Authority Act
Assessment Act

MANDATE
In 1974, a non-partisan commission tasked with examining property assessment and taxation in BC recommended that legislation be introduced to create a province-wide assessment authority. The authority was to be independent of the municipal and provincial property tax function and of provincial politics. Since the enactment of the Assessment Authority Act and Assessment Act in July 1974, BC Assessment has provided uniform, fair and independent property assessment services to the people of British Columbia.

HOW WE FULFILL OUR MANDATE
BC Assessment’s core product is the annual assessment roll. The roll lists the ownership, valuation, classification and exemption status for all assessable properties in the province and is used to distribute the property tax burden in BC. Our property assessments provide the base for generating nearly $8 billion annually to fund schools and important community services.

The majority of properties in the province are assessed at market value based upon a valuation date of July 1 of the year during which the assessment roll is completed. Market value is the most probable price that a property should bring in a competitive market under all conditions requisite to a fair sale, the buyer and seller each acting prudently and knowledgeably, and assuming the price is not affected by undue stimulus. Market value assessment is widely considered to be the fairest system for distributing the property tax burden. In any tax area, properties of equal value contribute the same tax, with higher-value properties contributing more than those with lower values. In addition, taxpayers can readily check assessments by comparing recent sales and assessments of similar properties within a given jurisdiction.

To determine market value, our professional appraisal staff considers characteristics such as building size, layout, shape, age, condition and quality, and the location, views, topography, and access to services for land. We also liaise with local and provincial agencies regarding land title changes, building, development and subdivision permit approvals, and land use control (i.e., official community plan and zoning) adjustments to determine the impact on assessments. For example, new construction, development approvals and changes in permitted uses can result in non-market change, or new value to the tax base without having to increase tax rates.

Properties are classified into one of nine property classes based on their physical use to allow a variable tax rate system (different tax rates for each class) and to allow partial or complete exemptions from assessment and/or taxation.

Through stable liability and property insurance, outreach programs and expert advice, the MIABC gives members the dependable support they need to keep their communities vibrant and alive.

MANDATE

The MIABC is a not-for-profit association that provides local governments in BC with dependable support by offering stable liability and property insurance, outreach programs and expert advice.

HOW WE FULFILL OUR MANDATE

We do not make a profit on our insurance premiums. We are a reciprocal risk pool and use premiums to pay out claims, with the surplus invested to generate investment income. That income reduces costs, pays for member services and provides a capital base to ensure that our rates remain stable. Excess funds are also returned to our members through dividends.

As owners, the MIABC’s members dictate the extent of their coverage, voting on changes to the insurance policies each year at the Annual General Meeting. We continually review offerings on the commercial market and consult members on their insurance needs to ensure that members receive the best possible insurance coverage.

We are committed to ensuring our insurance rates remain stable from year to year, avoiding the ups and downs of the commercial market. Since 2003, rate increases have remained under 10%, and for many of our members, rates have, on average, decreased 1% each year.

We offer a wide range of risk management services, including education and training, loss prevention advice, feedback on claims data and access to general legal advice. For many of our members, we are an extension of their risk management department.

Broad Insurance Coverage

The MIABC has provided liability coverage to its members since 1987. Since 2014, we offer blanket coverage for property of every description, property extensions and special limits, and ancillary coverage such as business interruption and crime.

Through our Associate Member Program, we offer up to $5 million in liability coverage for independent contractors providing services to their community on behalf of our members.

The MIABC offers the User-Group Insurance Portal, a self-serve online tool through which user groups can arrange competitively priced insurance for their event.

Expert and Principled Claims Handling

Our claims handling philosophy dictates that we resolve claims on a principled basis. This means we do not pay nuisance settlements. If our investigations indicate our member does not face a liability exposure, we will defend the matter thoroughly. We endeavour to resolve the claim as efficiently as possible in accordance with the amount of exposure.

The MIABC’s legal department was created in 2006 for the purpose of substantially reducing the cost of litigating claims by handling certain cases in-house rather than using outside counsel. Today, the five lawyers who make up our internal legal team handle approximately half of the MIABC’s claims.

Unmatched Risk Management Services

Our mission is to give members the dependable support they need to keep their communities vibrant and alive. To do this, we offer a wide range of risk management and other services. Whether it is a sample waiver template or advice on an inspection policy, financial support for risk management training or a site inspection, the MIABC aims to provide a level of service unavailable anywhere else.

HISTORY

1985 - 1989

The MIABC Is Born – In the mid-1980s, premiums and deductibles for local governments were soaring, but the necessary coverage was increasingly unavailable. The UBCM struck a task force to consider alternatives to the private market, which recommended establishing a self-insurance pooling program. On November 26, 1987, the MIABC was created and, by 1989, had established the Claims Department and the Risk Management Department.

2002

A Blip in Coverage – In the early 2000s, the leaky condo crisis threatened to disintegrate the MIABC’s reinsurance program and the MIABC. Although only a small percentage of members faced leaky condo claims, it appeared that it would cost tens of millions of dollars to resolve those claims. The MIABC’s members voted to withdraw coverage for leaky condo claims. In retrospect, the magnitude of the risk was less than feared, and the claims were resolved for sums far less than the posted reserves. In 2017, the MIABC’s members voted to reinstate water infiltration coverage.

2006 - 2012

Benefits and Services for Members Grow – Between 2006 and 2012, the MIABC reached a number of milestones that highlight the advantages of the reciprocal pool model. In 2006, the Legal Department was established to defend claims at a significantly lower cost to its members, and dividends were returned to members for the first time. In 2010, the MIABC introduced the Risk Management Grant Program, providing funds for new initiatives with the primary purpose of reducing liability exposure. In 2012, the MIABC held its first Risk Management Conference, enabling members to develop their understanding of risk management issues and to connect with other members of the MIABC community.

2014

The MIABC Evolves Its Business – The MIABC launched its Property Insurance Program and created a brokerage arm, Civic Risk Insurance Solutions Inc., to obtain ancillary and specialty coverage required by members. The MIABC purchased a commercial building in Vancouver to house its office and to provide an additional source of revenue.

Elected Officials Seminars

The LGLA holds a series of three-day Elected Officials Seminars (EOS) around the province following local government elections. These seminars act as an orientation to local government for newly elected officials as well as a chance for returning elected officials to refresh their knowledge, reconnect with colleagues, build on their governance capabilities and mentor newly elected officials. Topics covered at the EOS series include local government law, finance and planning, meeting procedures, roles and responsibilities, local government-First Nations relations and citizen engagement.

Leadership Forums

In between election years, the LGLA holds a three-day province-wide Leadership Forum exploring themes related to successful governance (e.g., communication, respectful leadership and relationship-building). Province-wide forums are attended by local government and First Nations elected officials and senior administrators from all regions of BC. Most years, the LGLA also holds a Chief Elected Officials (CEO) Forum, which brings mayors, chairs and chiefs from around the province together for a two-day interactive session exploring the particular challenges of leading BC’s communities.

Online Learning

Periodic online learning opportunities are provided in conjunction with LGLA’s founding partners and other local government organizations looking to educate local leaders in particular topic areas (e.g., community economic development, citizen engagement, information and privacy and climate change).

Certificate Program

In addition to providing educational opportunities, the LGLA offers a certificate program for elected officials to recognize ongoing efforts in leadership development. The certificate program is designed to be completed over the course of three or more electoral terms and requires elected officials to have achieved a certain number of course hours in attendance at LGLA and other local government learning events, in addition to their elected service. The following certificates are awarded:

- Level I: Certificate in Local Government Leadership
- Level II: Advanced Certificate in Local Government Leadership
- Level III: Certificate of Excellence in Local Government Leadership

ADDITIONAL INFORMATION

The LGLA is pleased to offer the Cathy Watson Memorial Award in honour of one of the original founding members of the LGLA, Cathy Watson was a long-serving employee of the provincial government, a dedicated proponent of local government-First Nations relations, and a strong supporter of education and leadership training for elected officials. She made many lasting contributions in this area, and the award was established in her name to enable participation in the annual LGLA Leadership Forum and the EOS series by local government or First Nations elected officials who might otherwise be unable to attend due to financial constraints.
