

Credential Recognition: Your Path to Professional Licensure

StrongerBC
for everyone

Do you have international training in a profession or occupation that is regulated in B.C.? Follow the steps below to learn what you need to do to work in your field.

START

See if your profession is regulated in BC and if you need a license.

LEARN

Find out what the licensing process is for your profession and if there is available funding.

ASK

Contact the regulatory authority if you have questions about the process and/or fees.

PREPARE

Get your whole application ready, including documents and records.

APPLY

Submit your complete application to the appropriate regulatory authority.

CONNECT

Find a professional network or a community of practice. Get to know your community!

BRITISH COLUMBIA

International credential recognition is becoming faster and more transparent. Connect with regulatory authorities and service organizations for help navigating the process.

LEARN MORE AT WELCOMEBC.CA/WORK-IN-B-C

Credential Recognition: Your Path to Professional Licensure

StrongerBC
for everyone

Do you have international training in a profession or occupation that is regulated in B.C.? Follow the steps below to learn what you need to do to work in your field.

START YOUR CREDENTIAL RECOGNITION JOURNEY

See if your profession is regulated in BC

- Go to WorkBC.ca, search for your job title, and check under Education and Certifications

If your profession is regulated, look at the certification requirements on the website for your regulatory authority.

Regulatory authorities can answer your questions about getting your certification in BC.

GET SUPPORT

Help is available for international credential recognition.

- On WelcomeBC.ca, search for:
  - Career Paths for Skilled Immigrants to find professionals who can help you
  - The Newcomers Guide for information on life in BC, including resources for international credential recognition
- WorkBC Service Centres can help you find a job

International credential recognition is becoming faster and more transparent. Connect with regulatory authorities and service organizations for help navigating the process.

LEARN MORE AT WELCOMEBC.CA/WORK-IN-B-C

