

Content Regulations

Mandatory STRA (Security, Threat, Risk Assessment) has classified support web site information (content) as low sensitivity. Client/information owners need to understand this classification and they have the responsibility for deciding whether to post sensitive information in either the QA site or Prod site.

Clients are the Information Owners and “have the responsibility and decision making authority for information throughout its life cycle, including creating, classifying, restricting, regulating and administering its use or disclosure...” Corporate Online Services (COS) is the Information Custodians and “maintains or administers information assets on behalf of the Information Owners...”

Please refer to Information Security Policy 2.1.3:

<http://www.cio.gov.bc.ca/local/cio/informationsecurity/policy/isp.pdf>

Information Security Classification Guidelines provides examples of High, Medium and Low classifications:

<http://www.cio.gov.bc.ca/local/cio/informationsecurity/policy/ISCGuidelines.pdf>