What is the Agritech Concierge Program?

- The Agritech Concierge was launched in March 2021 to help agritech companies grow and scale their businesses.
- The Concierge is a one-stop shop for companies to navigate government services and programs to scale-up operations, improve export readiness and facilitate partnership opportunities.
- The Concierge is administered by the Ministry of Jobs, Economic Development and Innovation. Staff provide wayfinding services and program referrals as required.

Who Benefits from the Concierge Program?

Farmers, food producers and businesses interested in agritech are welcome to contact the Concierge to see how it may be able to support them.

What type of support does the Agritech Concierge provide?

Staff work across ministries and with other levels of government, related agencies and stakeholder organizations to provide:

- Support for navigating existing programs to scale-up, become export ready and attract investment.
- Support navigating government's organizational structure.
- Connections to municipal, regional, federal, foreign or First Nations governments, and to potential industry partners, investors and other collaborators.

For international investors, we can schedule consultations within your time zone to discuss opportunities to locate in B.C.

Can I access funding from the Agritech Concierge Program?

- The Program can provide companies with information about suitable funding programs, but it does not offer direct funding to companies.

Is there a fee to accessing the Agritech Concierge Program?

- Support and wayfinding services offered by the Agritech Concierge Program are free. Clients referred to third-party service providers for additional support may be subject to a fee for services.
