FRAMEWORK FOR SUCCESS

OUR LOGO

- The cycle of Life is a contemporary design by artist Rande Cooke, commissioned for Sooke School District's Aboriginal Education Enhancement Agreement. Rande's grandfather taught him the essential elements of art and impressed upon him how art reflects and connects to the culture.
- This rich vibrant design symbolizes the diverse Aboriginal populations of Vancouver Island, British Columbia and Canada. The Aboriginal peoples of the West Coast, known as the salmon people, considered salmon as the givers of life. In the Cycle of Life salmon flow eternally, circling a salmon egg.
- In Rande's design, the salmon reflect the four colours of the Medicine Wheel, white, yellow, red and black. The medicine wheel which guides Aboriginal Ways of Knowing, represents the four races of the world; Caucasian, Asian, Aboriginal and African; the four aspects of the human body; the physical, the emotional, the spiritual and the intellectual and the four directions. It is also a significant number in Aboriginal Ways of Knowing, and in this case, relates to the four goals of the Sooke School District's Aboriginal Enhancement Agreement.
- Each one of the salmon exhibits design elements which echo the distinct styles of West Coast Aboriginal Art. The white salmon, to the north, represents the Aboriginal peoples of Northern B.C. Underneath it is the Inuk'shuk representing the Inuit. The yellow salmon, to the east, represents the Kwakwaka'wakw of North-Eastern Vancouver Island. The red salmon, to the south, represents the Coast Salish of Southern Vancouver Island. The Infinity Symbol represents the Métis. The black salmon, to the west, represents the Nuu-chah-nulth of Western Vancouver Island.
- The salmon egg in the middle represents our most important commodity. Our treasures. Our future. Our children.
- As salmon eternally flow in the Cycle of Life it is anticipated that Sooke School District's Aboriginal Education Enhancement Agreement will eternal flow improving success and opportunities for Aboriginal learners.

The Aboriginal Education Department hosts three district events: Family Fall Gathering, Celebrating Students Success and Aboriginal Graduation Recognition Ceremony.

Community Initiatives

In July 2011 to July 2013, the Aboriginal Education Department supported a community summer literacy and numeracy camp for children grades one to three. The camp was supported by UBC's Aboriginal initiative in numeracy. A number of Aboriginal students attended the camp. An elder week was a highlight.

Pacheedaht Nation held numerous functions, community club, community newsletter, workshops on careers/internet safety, boys & girls programming and more, in which our school community can join. In June 2012, Pacheedaht Nation hosted 'Math Mania' at the new Pacheedaht Health Clinic for all to engage in fun math activities. Event invites are posted on a Facebook page. Pacheedaht Nation offers support to families and schools jointly by a Pacheedaht Education & Youth Program Manager.

T'Sou-ke Nation has a homework club which is supported by Aboriginal Education staff for a second year organized by the T'Sou-ke First Nation Culture Youth Worker.

Read Society provided 'READ: Capturing Stories, expanding knowledge Editing and Cultural Stories' to honour our community heroes, with heroes from T'Sou-ke Nation and Scia'new Nation. The program will continue for a second year at middle school level. Last year's Capturing Stories won the youth award at the Cowichan Film Festival, 2013.

Family Fall Gathering

This fall started out with a wonderful event. Aboriginal Education Department hosted the annual FAMILY FALL GATHERING at Saseenos Elementary. The evening started out with a 'Circle of Courage' pin hand-out for the first 100 people that arrived. Families, students, teachers, principals, vice principals, school superintendent and assistant superintendents, trustees and community partner groups joined the Aboriginal Education Department to welcome all back to an exciting school year! The cultural component included a traditional welcome to the territory– Coast Salish! Elder Shirley Alphonse opened the event with traditional welcome speaking in the traditional languages. Our theme shared traditional dance and stories by the Tzinquaw Dancers. T'Sou-ke First Nation led us in an environmental energy activity led by Angie Bristol! Everyone had an opportunity to make a pledge for a better future for our environment. Our community service providers generously provided welcome back door prizes for families. In addition, a big congrats to the committee and Aboriginal Education staff for a successful event!

Celebrating Student Success

Our theme continues to highlight the Coast Salish moons, The Saanich Year resource by authors, Earle Claxton, and John Elliott, Author Illustrator. The featured moon was 'Wekes Moon' and students contributed a wealth of artwork for our feature wall. What a fabulous event. We had a full house at Spencer Middle School. The Aboriginal Education Staff magically set up and displayed examples of student success the foyer area. A huge display reflecting all our schools efforts! The Celebrating Student Success committee created an event to remember. All were welcomed by huge posters displaying, welcoming figures and symbols of the Coast Salish and Nuu-chah-nulth creating a sacred circle in the gym. The Me to We Youth Leadership organization interactive activities to help celebrate the theme. Prior to the event Me to We organizers, and Middle School students gathered at T'Sou-ke First Nation band hall, to engage students in leadership sessions and the Sacred Circle. Elders and community members assisted in the Sacred Circle components. Pacheedaht First Nation offered up a salmon/leek tart as a starter. T'Sou-ke Nation presented a traditional tea table by Christine George and smudging by Elder Shirley Alphonse. Our feature artist Charlene George assisted in an interactive art table. Me to We leadership students organized oral storytellers John Bradley Williams, Earl Claxton Jr. and Andre Spencer. A hip hop band, The New Addiction, from Snuneymuxw First Nation, shared youthful messages. The highlight of the evening was our schools' student performances talents in public speaking, music, dance, and/or piano.

Aboriginal Education Department Recognition Ceremony

The graduation recognition ceremony was held at Camosun College, Na'tsa'maht in May. One hundred and eight graduates and families had the opportunity to celebrate success in a more traditional outdoor venue. Coast Salish honouring ceremonies were featured. The Aboriginal Education Department received positive feedback from students, families and partner group organizations and fully supported the cultural components. The committee collaborated with the Aboriginal Education Council stakeholders at monthly meetings and First Nation communities at planning meetings. An article was featured in the Times Colonist front page on the Moon family success on Sunday, June 9, 2013.

Quote: "I have never experienced a ceremony where I am from. Today was wonderful"
Graduate's parent

Class Act: "Harry Moon and his son, Raymond, suit up before their high-school graduation. "to me, it's something I never thought would happen," Harry says." Times Colonist, Sunday June 9, 2013

Success Stories: An increase in Aboriginal content is impacting the regular classroom:

Example One:

On May 14, 2013, Scia'new Nation, T'Sou-ke Nation, and Pacheedaht Nation acknowledged the board at a public board meeting for shifting education for the local Nations and all Aboriginal Children in schools. Each nation shared anecdotes to the board of trustees. A power point was shared locating the three nations on Coast Salish and Nuu-chah-nulth territories.

Example Two:

T'Sou-ke Solar Tours curriculum was developed by T'Sou-ke Smart Energy Group and classroom tours began in February 2013. Students are welcomed to the territory by an elder and learn about the extensive solar projects and energy conservation. The conservation workshops are fun and inclusive learning about complex energy ideas through storytelling, games, quizzes and hands-on activities. Students learned first-hand how First Nations follow traditions and values in respecting Mother Earth. Fifteen school classrooms participated in the tours.

Quote: "Thank-you T'Sou-ke Nation for the tour of your beautiful home. I love the way you guys use the solar power in a different way. You use solar energy instead of BC Hydro. I enjoyed the tour and meeting the staff. Andrew, thanks a lot for showing how you use your solar panels. I know two kinds of panels: one is solar voltaic panel which makes energy/electricity. Then there are solar hot water panels that heat water. Melanie and Angie thank-you for the story and Jeopardy." J.R.

Quote: "I think the solar panels are really cool and the solar hot water panels were cool too and it would make a big difference for the whole entire country! I think that Angie, Melanie, Andrew were awesome." "We will not have to pay the electricity bill or heating bill and we won't have that much climate change." Hannah

Quote: " We all enjoyed having the children visit us...As well as the solar and conservation workshops we also try to feature First Nation culture including visits to see the canoes and to understand what a midden is where the students try to visualize what life must have been like here hundreds of years ago. However, Toby the Eco Dog seems to be the favourite attraction. Toby likes to recycle plastic bottles." T'Sou-ke First Nation

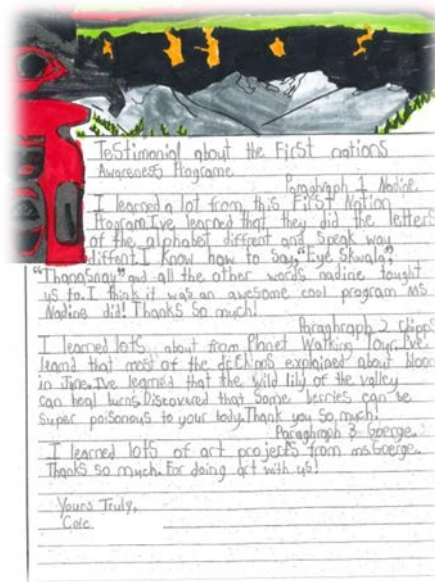

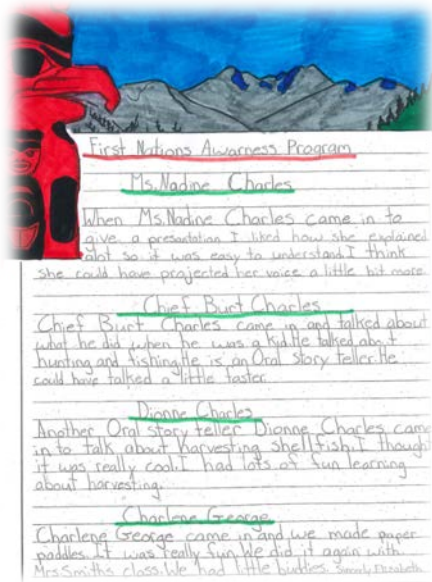

Quote: "An excellent program. Andrew did a great job. The students were really, engaged in both the outdoor program and the indoor program." Journey Middle School teacher

Example Three:

ØENENITEL PROJECT

The program is designed to bring local culture into the classroom taught by local First Nation territory role models. The teaching pedagogy included sharing circles, oral journals, storytelling, co-operative learning, and hands-on activities. The program covered a variety of PLOs from grade one science, and grade four language arts, science, and social studies. The program was presented to grade four and grade one classrooms. The program has four lessons: lessons one through three will teach local territory culture to grade four students and lesson four will involve grade four students mentoring grade one students. T'Sou-ke Nation and Scia'new Nation provided cultural safety guidance. The pilot was presented at Sooke Elementary which is on T'Sou-ke Nation territory.
