Your Skills in BC

Be recognized for what you are professionally trained to do

B.C. is making it easier for professionals trained outside of Canada to be recognized for their training so that more people can use their skills to work and live here. In B.C. we're taking action so skilled professionals - from early childhood educators to veterinarians - face fewer barriers. By Summer 2024, skilled professionals, like you, will find the international credential recognition system in B.C. easier to navigate, and you can continue to follow your career and dreams in B.C.
