Need access to credit and financing?

Government of Canada & Financial Institutions

Speak to your Lender

Canada’s largest financial institutions (BMO, CIBC, National Bank of Canada, RBC, Scotiabank, and TD Bank), as well as some credit unions like Vancity, are committed to working with business banking customers on a case-by-case basis to provide flexible financing solutions such as payment deferrals, reduced interest rates on credit cards and temporary limit increases.

Canada Emergency Business Account (CEBA):

The new CEBA will provide interest-free loans of up to $40,000 to eligible small businesses and not-for-profits, to help cover their operating costs during a period where their revenues have been temporarily reduced. To qualify, these organizations will need to demonstrate they paid between $20,000 to $1.5 million in total payroll in 2019. Repaying the loan on or before December 31, 2022 will result in loan forgiveness of 25% (up to $10,000). Interested businesses should work with their current financial institutions. Rural small businesses can contact Community Futures, which is receiving federal funding to support businesses that don’t qualify for the CEBA.

Business Credit Availability Program (BCAP):

The Federal government has established the BCAP to help Canadian businesses obtain financing during the current period of significant uncertainty. The BCAP will support access to financing to businesses in all sectors and regions through financial institutions. These programs will roll out in mid-April, and interested businesses should work with their current financial institutions.

- Co-Lending Program for Small and Medium-Sized Enterprises:
  The BDC is working with financial institutions to co-lend term loans of up to $6.25 million to small and medium enterprises, for their operational cash flow requirements. Eligibility has been extended to all legal businesses, including cannabis businesses and those in the hospitality sector operating bars and lounges.

- Loan Guarantee for Small and Medium-Sized Enterprises:
  Export Development Canada (EDC) is working with financial institutions to issue new operating credit and cash flow term loans of up to $6.25 million to small and medium enterprises.

The BC Government will work with the federal government to implement the CECRA program, and more details will be available soon.

Canada Emergency Wage Subsidy (CEWS)

75% Wage Subsidy:

A 75% wage subsidy on the first $58,700 of employees’ wages for three months, retroactive to March 15, 2020, will be available to qualifying businesses, charities and not-for-profit organizations that have experienced at least a 15% decline in revenue due to COVID-19. This will help businesses to keep and return workers to the payroll. Pending federal legislation, eligible employers will be able to access the CEWS through a Canada Revenue Agency online portal. More details on how to apply will be available soon from the Federal government.

10% Wage Subsidy:

Organizations that do not qualify for the 75% CEWS may continue to qualify for the previously announced wage subsidy of 10% of remuneration paid from March 18 to before June 20, up to a maximum subsidy of $1,375 per employee and $25,000 per employer.

Not eligible?

The Federal government is providing funding to organizations to support businesses that are not eligible for CEWS. Entrepreneurs, innovators and pre-revenue start-ups may contact the Industrial Research Assistance Program and Futurpreneur for financing and funding. B.C. COVID-19 Action Plan
B.C. Relief for Commercial Property Owners and Tenants
The B.C. government is reducing the school property tax rate for commercial properties to achieve an average 25% reduction in the total property tax bill for most businesses, providing up to $700 million in relief. This enhances the 50% reduction to the provincial school property tax rate that was originally announced for classes 4, 5 and 6 as part of B.C.’s COVID-19 Action Plan.

The date that late payment penalties apply for commercial properties in classes 4, 5, 6, 7 and 8 has been postponed to October 1, 2020 to give businesses and landlords more time to pay their reduced property tax without penalty.
