

Conducting the Business of a WUC

The Comptroller appoints the WUCs first manager, and subsequent managers or management committees are chose by members.

General Meetings

Communities hold at least one general meeting per year in order to determine and vote on issues facing the WUC, including projected expenditures and assessments. A copy of the minutes of each general meeting is filed with the Comptroller.

Adding New Members

A prospective member must apply for a water licence prior to applying to join a WUC. Upon receiving the licence and joining the community, the new member pays a hook-up fee to gain access to the water system.

Individual Members

Each member has an interest in the community that is directly proportional to the maximum quantity of water that the member is authorized to divert and use. A member's interest can be altered to be proportionate to the area of the member's land that is irrigated or the amount of water delivered.

Operating Costs

When the WUC requires funds for the general operation and maintenance of the works or to pay debts, the manager prepares an assessment roll detailing the amount of money owed by each member. Members pay proportionally according to their respective interests in the community.

Appealing an Assessment

Assessments can be appealed within 14 days. Appeals are investigated by the Comptroller.

Failure to Pay an Assessment

An assessment roll that has been reviewed and confirmed by the Comptroller is binding. Payments are due within 30 days of the date specified, and afterwards will accrue interest. Members who do not pay may be refused access to the use or benefit of the works provided by the WUC.

Sale of Property by a Member

When a WUC member sells property, he or she must notify the WUC manager. The member's liability for any debts incurred by the WUC is limited to those incurred prior to notifying the manager of the sale.

If the property purchaser wishes to maintain the WUC membership, the new owner becomes liable upon purchase for any debts incurred by the WUC after acquiring the land.

Financial Statements

Financial statements should be issued regularly, detailing the depreciated value of works operated by the WUC, the value of any land owned, the amount of money in savings, and any other assets or liabilities.
