

Climate stations located at several sites and elevations monitor variables such as air temperature, solar radiation, precipitation, relative humidity, wind speed, and wind direction. Shown is climate station A.