PERILS AND COVERAGE CONDITIONS

Unseeded Acreage Coverage

- 2.1 If you obtain coverage for unseeded acreage, we must indemnify you for your inability to seed silage corn ("Unseeded Acreage Loss") before June 11 because of excessive ground moisture. The formula for calculating Unseeded Acreage Loss indemnity is found in paragraph 8.1.

- (b) You must obtain Yield Loss coverage for silage corn.
- (c) You must advise us on or before June 12 of the number of acres that, as of June 10, you were unable to seed because of excessive ground moisture.
- (d) The acreage affected must be in blocks of 5 acres or more.

Conditions Of Unseeded Acreage Coverage

- 2.2 To be eligible for an indemnity for Unseeded Acreage Loss, you must ensure that all of the following conditions are met:
- (a) You must, before the start of the silage corn Crop Year, declare to us all the acreage that, as of the start of the Crop Year, you intend to seed to silage corn.

Land Not Eligible for Unseeded Acreage Coverage

- 2.3 The following land does not qualify for Unseeded Acreage Loss coverage:
- (a) acreage under bush or brush, sod, pasture, perennial forage, fall rye or winter wheat at the start of the silage corn Crop Year;

- (e) acreage that in our opinion is subject to repeated flooding or on which excess moisture is a recurring problem.

Reseeding Indemnity Coverage

- 2.4 If a Crop of silage corn is damaged by a Yield Loss Peril before June 11 to the degree that we estimate, as of the time of inspection, that its Total Yield will be less than its Production Guarantee, you may elect to reseed and receive a reseeding indemnity (a "Reseeding Indemnity").

The formula for calculating Reseeding Indemnity is found in paragraph 8.2

Conditions Of Reseeding Indemnity Coverage

- 2.5 To be eligible to receive a Reseeding Indemnity you must ensure that all of the following conditions are met:

- 2.7 If you obtain coverage for loss to perennial Forage Plants, we must indemnify you for damage ("Perennial Forage Plant Loss") to perennial Forage Plants described in the definition of “Type” that is caused by a Yield Loss Peril and that, in our opinion, renders at least 5 acres of them no longer economical to maintain: this does not include the loss of a species of perennial Forage Plant within a mixed planting if a viable stand of perennial Forage Plants remains.

The formula for calculating Perennial Forage Plant Loss indemnity is found in paragraph 8.4.

To be eligible for Perennial Forage Plant Loss, you must meet all of the following conditions:

- (a) You must own or lease the lands upon which they grow.
- (b) You must, before the Crop Year starts, provide us with a description of all your perennial Forage Plants by species and age and a map showing their location.

- 2.10 If you are eligible for Reseeding Indemnity coverage and you pay the premium for Yield Loss of silage corn at the maximum deductible and minimum Insurable Value we specify by the due date (see paragraph 10.1), you are, subject to meeting all other requirements, covered for Reseeding Indemnity for silage corn for the acres declared.

Forage Supply Loss Coverage

- 2.11 If you obtain coverage for forage supply, we must indemnify you for any reduction in yield of a Crop of Forage other than silage corn below 80% of probable yield (“Forage Supply Loss”) caused by a Yield Loss Peril (see paragraph 2.6), but only in Crop Years during which producers experience the minimum reduction specified in the indemnity formula.

The formula for calculating Forage Supply Loss indemnity is found in paragraph 8.3A.

We Decide What You Can Control

- 3.2 We may, in our sole discretion, decide, for the purposes of paragraph 3.1, what you can control, but we must act reasonably in making this decision. If an excluded event causes a loss, we may deny the claim or reduce the indemnity by applying an Assessment.

If you do not request coverage for the entire crop or if you request less insurance than may be required by paragraph 4.6, production from the uninsured land will be included in Total Yield of that Crop for adjusting purposes, even though we do not increase your Production Guarantee.

If you request Perennial Forage Plant Loss coverage on a Type of perennial Forage Plant, you must request Perennial Forage Plant Loss coverage on all of the perennial Forage Plants of that Type growing on land you owned or leased at the start of the Crop Year.

If you request Forage Supply Loss coverage for a Crop, you must request that coverage for the entire Crop you grow on land you own or lease as of the start of the Crop Year.

If you do not request coverage for the entire crop or if you request less insurance than may be required by paragraph 4.6A, production from the uninsured land will be included in Total Yield of that Crop for Forage Supply Loss adjusting purposes, even though we do not increase your probable yield.

We May Deny Coverage

4.19 We may, in our sole discretion, refuse to provide you insurance coverage by giving you written notice before the start of a Crop Year. We may, without limiting the scope of our discretion, refuse coverage based on

- (a) the area and the site used to grow the plants that will bear the Crop,
- (b) the variety of the plants or Crop, and
- (c) the health and vigor of the plants that will bear the Crop.

We May Specify Conditions

4.20 We may require you to meet conditions to be eligible for insurance coverage.

Underwriting In Our Sole Discretion

4.21 We have the sole discretion to determine underwriting matters, including, without limitation, to establish probable yield of a Crop, premium rates, premiums, deductible choices, insurable value choices, and what Type a perennial Forage Plant is. You have no right to appeal underwriting decisions.

Termination Of Contract – Failure to Obtain Coverage

Year. If you wish to again obtain coverage, you will have to reapply.

- 4.22 If you have not obtained coverage for two consecutive Crop Years and do not obtain coverage at the start of the next Crop year, this contract terminates at the start of that Crop

We May Require Crop To Mature

- 7.1 After inspecting a Crop, we may require you to allow the Crop to mature.

Permission To Abandon Crop

- 7.2 If you claim an indemnity for a Crop, you must harvest all of the Crop within a reasonable time after it matures, unless we give written consent not to harvest. Any Crop that you do not harvest is defined as "Appraised Unharvested Yield" (see definition of "Total Yield") unless a Yield Loss Peril prevents you from effectively harvesting and we give written consent not to harvest. We may, in our sole discretion, decide if you are prevented from effectively harvesting, but we must act reasonably in making this decision.

Changing Use

- 7.3 If you claim an indemnity, you must not remove any plant that produces Forage or work down, pasture, harvest for seed or grain, or use other than to produce Forage, land covered by this contract before we give written consent. Once you do any of these, you must tell us so we may inspect what you have done.

- Ensiled yields and yields that have been rained on after baling, in order to be fairly compare with dried yields, will be measured for moisture content and converted to a 15% moisture content equivalent for Forage other than silage corn and to a 0% moisture equivalent for silage corn.

If there is a discrepancy between information provided by you and information obtained by us from other sources, we may use the latter to determine an indemnity.

and the indemnities and any applicable deductibles are calculated separately.

Maximum Indemnity

7.7 The cumulative maximum indemnity payable in a Crop Year for Yield Loss and Reseeding Indemnity for a Crop of silage corn is (Production Guarantee) X (Insurable Value).

Separate Adjustment

7.6 Yield Loss for silage corn and for Forage other than silage corn are adjusted separately. Yield Loss, Forage Supply Loss, and Perennial Forage Plant Loss are adjusted separately. Perennial Forage Plant Losses of each Type of perennial Forage Plant are adjusted separately

Adjusting Costs Covered

7.8 You are obliged to pay premiums associated with the adjusting process. We must indemnify you for these costs and, therefore, there will be no net additional cost to you.

INDEMNITY CALCULATIONS

Unseeded Acreage Loss Indemnity

8.1 An indemnity for Unseeded Acreage Loss is calculated according to the following formula:

(total acres unseeded at June 11 minus the deductible that we specify or, if applicable, that you select before the Crop Year starts from the choices we offer)

X Insurable Value

(Production Guarantee for Yield Loss purposes - Assessments - Total Yield)

X Insurable Value

Forage Supply Loss Indemnity

8.3A An indemnity for Forage Supply Loss is calculated according to the following formula: (80% of probable yield – Assessments – Total Yield)

X Insurable Value

Reseeding Indemnity

8.2 A reseeded indemnity is calculated according to the following formula:

(total acres reseeded to Silage Corn) X Insurable Value

Paragraph 7.7 describes a maximum indemnity.

but an indemnity is only payable if, for a given Crop Year

the sum of the Total Yields of Forage, excluding silage corn, produced by all producers growing Forage in the Forage Supply Reference Region who are insured under the Forage production insurance program

Yield Loss Indemnity

8.3 An indemnity for Yield Loss is calculated according to the following formula:

is less than 60% of the sum of the probable yields of Forage, excluding silage corn, of all producers growing Forage in the Forage Supply Reference Region who are insured under the Forage production insurance program

Perennial Forage Plant Loss Indemnity

8.4 An indemnity for Perennial Forage Plant Loss is calculated according to the following formula:

(Acres of perennial Forage Plants of each Type suffering Perennial Forage Plant Loss and removed with our written consent - Assessments) X (Insurable Value for that Type of Forage Plant)

minus

the deductible for that Type of Forage Plant that we specify or, if applicable, that you select before the Crop Year starts from the choices we offer.

Effect Of Claiming Loss Of Established High Yield Or Irrigated Plants

8.5 If we become obliged to pay an indemnity for Perennial Forage Plant Loss suffered by an area of perennial Forage Plants of a Type described in subparagraph c), d), or e) of the definition of Type, the actual production for that Crop Year from any portion of the area reseeded to Forage will be included in calculating your yield.

Effect Of Claiming Loss Of Other Established Plants

8.6 If we become obliged to pay an indemnity for Perennial Forage Plant Loss suffered by an area of perennial Forage Plants of a Type described in subparagraph (b) of the definition of Type and the area is reseeded to annual Forage in that Crop Year, we may modify your probable yield (and consequently your Production Guarantee) to account for that change. The actual production for that Crop Year from any portion of the area reseeded to annual Forage will be included in calculating your yield.

INDEMNITY PAYMENT

Things That Must Happen Before Indemnity Is Payable

9.1 We may withhold payment of an indemnity until any one or more of the following, as we in our discretion may specify, occurs:

- (a) the Crop is harvested,

- (c) you establish that an insured peril caused the loss,
- (d) the land is worked down or put to a use other than to produce Forage, if we so require,
- (e) you provide evidence of the removal of perennial Forage Plants for which a Perennial Forage Plant Loss claim is made,

- (f) you provide a Canada Revenue Agency income tax reporting number, or
- (g) you provide a statutory declaration attesting to any representation you make to us for the purpose of obtaining an indemnity.

Payment And Claim Summary Report
