

Just a reminder that it's business as usual for the DCV!

As mentioned in our March newsletter, as a result of Core Review, the province has decided that government will be moving to source office products through the private sector and our Distribution Centre will cease to procure, warehouse and ship office products. However, our storage and distribution warehousing (WAMS) will continue as is.

It is anticipated that it will be late fall before we move to this new supplier for the sourcing of office products. In the interim, it's business as usual for DCV. We want to keep you informed about what is happening at the DCV as we transition towards this new model, starting with offering you some great clearance prices on products.
