Frequently Asked Questions
A Picture of Health - The B.C. Ministry of Health Newsletter

What is A Picture of Health?

A Picture of Health is B.C.’s Ministry of Health e-newsletter focused on telling the provincial health care transformation story. Published at the beginning of every month, this online resource for B.C.’s health sector is aimed at keeping out health system partners, practitioners and administrators up-to-date on the Ministry’s work to improve patient experiences and outcomes.

Why am I receiving this newsletter?

As a valuable health system partner, practitioner or administrator, we want to help keep you informed about relevant community resources, industry news, updates on policy as well as share links to useful tool and information from across B.C.’s health system.

How do I subscribe?

You can subscribe to A Picture of Health by clicking sign up today on our homepage.

Can I share it with colleagues?

Yes! You can forward the email to your colleagues if you think they’d be interested. We would encourage them to subscribe so they never miss an update. Subscribing is free and easy. Click here and leave your email address.

Can I share it on social media?

Social media is a great way to share information. The newsletter includes, near the bottom, a link to an online version of the newsletter so you can post it on a variety of social media channels. We encourage health related organizations to promote the newsletter and help us reach a broader audience. A Picture of Health is carefully curated for healthcare professionals in B.C. so be aware that most of the information is written for partners, practitioners and administrators with a background in healthcare.
How do I find additional newsletters?

All our newsletters are available online at A Picture of Health. We’ll always make sure you know which issue is the most recent but acknowledge that sometimes you might want to refer to material from a previous issue.

How often will I receive newsletters?

You’ll receive a monthly e-newsletter from the Ministry of Health. Be sure to add MOHNewsletter@gov.bc.ca to your safe sender list so you never miss an update. This way, you’ll be sure to receive our newsletter in your inbox instead of them accidentally ending up in your junk or spam folder.

How is my personal information being use?

We only use the information you give us to send our newsletter and they’ll only come from MOHNewsletter@gov.bc.ca. That means you won’t receive anything from us except our newsletters.

How do I contact you?

You can always contact us at MOHNewsletter@gov.bc.ca. We welcome your feedback and input. We’re also always interesting in hearing stories from our readers. If you have a unique story to tell, know someone who does or have an idea for a topic, don’t hesitate to reach out to us directly. We include our email address in every newsletter.

How can I change my subscription address?

The best way to change your email address is to email us directly at MOHNewsletter@gov.bc.ca with ‘Change subscription address’ in the subject line. Let us know which email address to remove and indicate where you want to receive the newsletter. Alternatively, you can sign up using your preferred email address here.

How do I unsubscribe?

You can easily stop receiving our newsletters at any time. Simply email MOHNewsletter@gov.bc.ca to request removal. Once you do, you will no longer receive A Picture of Health.

You can also unsubscribe by clicking the link at the bottom of any newsletter you’ve already received.
