

ARE YOU PREPARED FOR PANDEMIC H1N1?

INFECTIOUS DISEASES OUTBREAKS

TOOLS AND STRATEGIES FOR FRONT-LINE CLINICIANS

National online CME for front-line clinicians

As the pandemic H1N1 (2009) virus spreads around the world, clinicians want easy access to the information they need to be part of a coordinated pandemic response. The online course: Infectious Disease Outbreaks: Tools and strategies for front-line clinicians is the definitive resource for clinicians who want to be prepared both personally and professionally for the influenza outbreak season in 09/10.

This course:

- was created by and for Clinicians
- is accredited by the College of Family Physicians of Canada, the Royal College of Physicians and Surgeons and the Fédération des médecins omnipraticiens du Québec
- links to current provincial and territorial public health resources

With this 6 hour online Continuing Medical Education course that you can cover during times convenient to you, you will:

- Get a good overview of how the overall health response to an infectious disease outbreak works
- Be able to confer with colleagues on how to incorporate best practices in infection prevention and control in the office setting
- Get a clear understanding of what everyone's roles and responsibilities are during a pandemic – including your own.
- Know how to prepare yourself and your family for a widespread outbreak
- Get links to studies, articles, guidelines and other useful online resources
- Be able to "Ask the Expert" on any question related to the course material and get a response within 48 hours.

Register today!

English: www.publichealth.qc.ca/outbreaks-course
Français: <http://www.santepublique.qc.ca/cours-eclosions>