

For your digital evidence to be considered at a hearing, it must meet requirements set out in the Rules of Procedure:

- digital evidence may include photographs, audio recordings, video recordings or electronic versions of printable documents in an accepted format
- you must provide a printed description of what's on the digital device on paper (this form makes it easy)
- well before the hearing, you must confirm that the other party can gain access to the files.

If there is a virus on the digital device, the evidence will not be considered.

You should submit your digital evidence with the printed description as soon as possible. At the same time as you submit your digital evidence and Digital Evidence Details to the Residential Tenancy Branch, be sure to serve the other party with the same material.
