The new Limitation Act is a default statute. If another provincial statute contains a limitation period, the new Limitation Act does not apply, except to the extent provided for in the other provincial statute. The new Limitation Act is not yet in effect. Until June 1, 2013 the former Limitation Act continues to apply.

Special ULP start dates for claims involving conversion, fraud, fraudulent breach of trust, future interest in trust property, demand obligations, security realization or redemption, contribution or indemnity, a minor, or a person under a disability.

This document was developed by the Civil Policy and Legislation Office, Ministry of Justice. It is posted as educational material to support the transition to the new Limitation Act. It is not intended to constitute legal advice and should not be relied upon for those purposes.