Preparing an Application for Case Management Order Form 10

Complete this form if you need a case management order with consent of each party and any other person affected by the order or that requires a court appearance, or to apply to change, suspend or cancel an order made in the absence of a party.

You can use this form to:

- apply for a case management order by consent without attending before the court, if you are also filing a draft Consent Order Form 18 signed by each party and any other person affected by the order, or
- request a court appearance to apply:
  - for a case management order, or
  - to change, suspend or cancel an order made in the absence of a party.

Case management orders can be made on application or by a judge at a family management conference, family settlement conference or other court appearance without application by a party.

The case management orders a judge may make are listed on this form in Part 4 and under Rule 62.

Some case management orders must be made with notice or with the consent of each other party and any other person affected by the order.

The following case management orders can be requested without notice and without attendance at a court appearance by filing an Application for Case Management Order without Notice or Attendance Form 11:

- allowing a person to attend a court appearance using another method of attendance;
- waiving or modifying any requirement related to service or giving notice to a person, including allowing an alternative method for the service of a document;
- waiving or modifying any other requirement under these rules, including a time limit set under these rules or a time limit set by an order or direction, even after the time limit has expired;
- requiring access to information in accordance with section 242 [orders respecting searchable information] of the Family Law Act;
- authorizing an official of the court, in accordance with section 10 of the Family Orders and Agreements Enforcement Assistance Act (Canada), to make an application under section 12 of that Act for the release of information;
- recognizing an extraprovincial order other than a support order.

Form 10 can also be used to apply for these case management orders if they are by consent or you want a court appearance.

Filling out the form and preparing to file it

Make sure you follow the instructions in the form and include all the required information. You don't need to use any special wording. Try to be clear and concise.

If you complete the form by hand, be sure it's readable.

How do I prepare the form for filing?

- print or make copies of all documents: one set for you, one set for the court, and one set for each other party
- staple or secure each package of documents together

Contacting the other party

Before filing your application, it's good practice to contact the other party and any other person affected by the order to see if they might consent to your application, or to help select a date for the court appearance that will work for everyone. It can save you time and energy.

If they agree to the order, you can choose to:

- prepare and file a Consent Order Form 18, which usually means a judge can review your application and approve your order without you having to go to court, or
- go to a court appearance

Filing the application at the registry

After you've filled out your form, you must file it at the Provincial Court Registry:

- where the existing Provincial Court case with the same parties is filed (you already have a court file number)
- nearest to where the child lives most of the time if the case involves a child-related issue, or
- nearest to where you live if the case does not involve a child-related issue

File the form:

- electronically using the FLA Online Forms Service
- in person at the court registry
- by mail
- by email, as referenced in Notice to the Profession and Public NP 28 Current Court Operations, or
- by fax filing using the Fax Filing Cover Page Form 52

There are no fees for filing Provincial Court family documents.

Be sure to bring all copies of the documents to the registry if you are filing in person.

The registry clerk will review your package to make sure it's complete before filing it. You'll be given a copy for your records along with a copy for the other party.

Serving the application

Serve a copy of the application on each other party and any other person who may be directly affected by the order.

They must be served with at least 7 days' notice of the date and time of the appearance unless the court has ordered something different. This means there must be at least 7 days between the date the application is served and the date and time of the court appearance.

The application can be served by ordinary service to the address of service for each party. Their address for service is the address they have provided to the court.

A party who does not have an address for service, or a person who may be directly affected by the order, must be served by personal service. An adult (at least 19 years old) who is not a party must hand-deliver the documents to the party to be served. A party may serve a person who is not a party.

See the guidebook if you need more information about serving the application.

You may need to prove service of the documents took place. The person serving the documents must complete a Certificate of Service Form 7 to prove service. You must attach a copy of the documents to the Certificate of Service. Remember to make a copy before the documents are served.

Attending the court appearance, if applicable

A judge can make decisions based only on the information presented by the parties. In addition to your application, you can provide evidence including any additional affidavit(s) and spoken evidence provided in court.

If you can't attend court using the method of attendance set out in your application, you can request the court's permission to attend using a different method of attendance by filing an Application for Case Management Order without Notice or Attendance Form 11.

Can I get help in another language?

Free spoken-language interpreters for people who do not speak English and visual language interpreters for people who are deaf or hard of hearing are available for all family law court appearances.

It's important to let court registry staff know as soon as possible that you need an interpreter. If they can't arrange an interpreter in time, the judge may have to re-schedule your case.

For most things that go on outside the courtroom, you'll need to find your own interpreter. Some people ask a friend or family member. Others hire a professional interpreter.

Next steps – application by consent

If you are making your application by consent and you have included a draft consent order, it usually means you can obtain the order without you having to go to court.

A judge reviews your application and, unless the judge has any questions about what you are asking for, approves your order without a court hearing.

Depending on what you are requesting on your application, it may take the judge a few days to review your application. The registry staff will let you know when you can expect to hear from them.
