What is exempt from seizure?

The Court Order Enforcement Act sets out the personal goods of the debtor which, at the option of the debtor, are exempt from seizure (See the back of this form for a list of exemptions).

Debtors may choose any goods which they would like to exempt from seizure and sale up to the maximum allowable amount within each category (see chart below). Debtors are also allowed to retain all necessary clothing and required medical aids.

Bailiffs must inform debtors of their exemption rights under the Court Order Enforcement Act when they first visit the debtor's home. The debtor then has two days to choose which goods he or she would like to be exempt from seizure.

Exemption Category A. Personal property of debtor	Maximum Amount Allowable
Household goods	$4,000
Tools of the trade	$10,000
Motor vehicle	$5,000
Motor vehicle – if the debt is for child maintenance arrears	$2,000
B. Principal residence of debtor
Equity in a home – if the debtor's principal residence is in the	$12,000
Equity in a home – elsewhere in British Columbia	$9,000

This information is presented as an aid to understanding your right to claim an exemption under the legislation. It is not intended to replace the need to consult the Act or the regulations. If there is any conflict between the legislation and this information, the legislation shall prevail.
