The Awards

AWARD OF DISTINCTION

This premier award honours the extraordinary lifetime contribution and commitment by a practitioner, volunteer, or group to crime prevention and community safety. The award was established in honour of Anthony J. Hulme for his role as a pioneer in crime prevention and community safety in British Columbia. Anthony was one of the original founders of the B.C. Crime Prevention Association.

YOUTH LEADERSHIP AWARD

This award recognizes police officers, youth, and others who have demonstrated outstanding leadership and commitment to working with youth or youth themselves who work, in their communities. The award was established in memory of Constable Wael T. Audi, a young and enthusiastic member of the Squamish RCMP, who recognized the potential in youth and encouraged their participation in community safety and crime prevention.

RESTORATIVE JUSTICE MEMORIAL AWARD

This award recognizes a community-based restorative justice group or individual that has demonstrated a commitment to innovative partnerships that have advanced the work of restorative justice and brought caring and respectful service to victims, offenders and their communities. The award was established in honour and memory of the late Dr. Liz Elliott, founding Co-Director of the Centre for Restorative Justice at Simon Fraser University and a highly respected practitioner and advocate for Restorative Justice.

CRIME PREVENTION & COMMUNITY SAFETY AWARD

This award recognizes exemplary leadership through developing innovative projects and key activities or initiatives to promote safe communities. The award was established in honour and memory of Constable Kenneth M. Lemckert who played a key role in the Vancouver Police Department's community policing program. Ken recognized the importance of partnerships and the contributions we can make towards solving local problems. Nominees can include individuals (paid or volunteer), community groups, local governments, or businesses.

SERVICES TO VICTIMS AWARD

This award recognizes an individual (paid or volunteer), community group and others who have provided exemplary leadership in providing services and supports to victims. The award was established to honour the networks of individuals and organizations across British Columbia that work directly with victims and support women and children whose lives have been affected by violence.
